EDITORIAL COMMENT.

A CAMPAIGN OF OPTIMISM.

A political campaign has in the past been looked upon as some dire thing which threatened at least temporary prosperity of the nation. This year we have an exception.

Some wise men once spoke of government as a "necessary evil." He must have had in mind the usual effect of a political campaign. The old time campaign usually represented an alignment of two parties, the "ins" and the "outs." One told the people that they were becoming impoverished by the party in power. The opposition painted awful terrifying pictures of what would happen if the other fellow got in.

Let us be frank. We fully appreciate that there is occasion at times for these vital national issues to be threshed out, even though the doing so brings about a temporary confusion, and spirit of unrest. The government represents a great machine made up of 80,000 necessary cog wheels. There comes a time when a portion of these cog wheels do not perform their full function. Then it is necessary to stop and fix the machine even though all the 80,000,000 suffer somewhat temporarily.

But this campaign is particularly fortunate. There is no national issue threatening the confidence of the people—threatening even temporarily to arouse the spirit of discontent either upon the part of capital or labor.

For one of the few times in history both parties seem to be united on one vital point. They are optimists, first, last and all the time.

This spirit was as manifest in the national Democratic convention at Denver, as it was in the Republican meeting at Chicago. The politicians are all singing a song of prosperity. They earnestly believe in the advantages of their side, but there is no "calamity howling."

It is a good omen. It shows that even the politicians are Americans first, and partisans afterwards. It is an indication of real patriotism.

It at least assures us that the campaign will not interfere with business, that there will be nothing to frustrate the steady and rapid readjustment of conditions which has been going ahead for several months.

We are racing rapidly back to the plane of prosperity which existed before the unfortunate financial flurry of last November. Even the politicians will not retard this progress.—Profit and Loss.

PATRONIZE HOME INDUSTRY.

A Carson printing plant is sending out circulars announcing that they have a traveling representative on the road for the purpose of soliciting trade in this city. The circular sets forth that it has a complete new management. The proper place to have your printing done is in your home town and the Bonanza wishes to say that it has the most complete printing establishment any where on the west coast; that it flatters itself that it can furnish you fair prices and good workmanship, together with prompt service; that under these conditions the merchant and business man is doing himself a favor and shows that he has the interest of his city at heart by patronizing the newspapers and printers that are engaged in building up Tonopah.

CALL FOR CASH IS VERY NEAR

CHICAGO, Aug. 20. — Chicago banks are beginning to feel the demand for money to finance the autumn crop movement. As yet these developments have not reached the stage of actual call for funds, but there is strong inquiry on the part of future borrowers whose requirements will be large later in the season, and the eagerness displayed in making these arrangements so early is regarded as a forerunner of a brisk demand a month hence, when the crop movement begins.

Preliminary inquiries are fully two weeks ahead of time this year. They are received in greater number than usual, and some banks have opened negotiations for accounts with many new customers whose dealing were all conducted in other cities before the panic last fall. A vice president of one of the largest national banks of Chicago states today that preliminary arrangements have been made with so many borrowers that his institution had ceased to purchase commercial paper for the time being, and that he is seriously considering marking up the minimum rate for loans. As it is, the bank will not place loans under 4 1/2 per cent, which is an advance of one-half of 1 per cent compared with the low figure of thirty days ago.

The cotton crop will be a big factor in the monetary situation this year. Local bankers in touch with conditions say the southern states will produce more cotton this year than ever before. St. Louis bankers are already sending money south, and local institutions have received applications for loans to be made later, which will amount to a considerable sum. Kansas City and Omaha grain houses have made inquiry for funds here, but the principal demand comes from borrowers at Minneapolis and Duluth.

Chicago banks, according to their last official reports, are in far better shape to meet the crop demand this year than ever before. There is, however, a desire on the part of every institution to maintain large cash holdings, and it is likely that many will begin to draw upon their balances in New York as soon as the outward flow of currency begins.

PROSPERITY MAY SWAMP ALL ROADS

CHICAGO, Aug. 20.—The president and board of directors of the Illinois Manufacturers' association see returning prosperity coming with such a rush that they are alarmed with regard to the ability of the railroads to take care of it.

For this reason a meeting of the board has been called for tomorrow with a view to passing resolutions asking the railroads to hasten the repair of all their bed order cars and to put all of their power into condition to be used when the deluge of tonnage comes. In explanation of the proposed action, it is stated that the railroads, or many of them, at least, are asleep on the job, and have permitted hundreds of thousands of cars to remain out of repair.

BEGIN WORK ON THE GYMNASIUM

FIRMEN WILL RAZE SHACKS TO THE GROUND TOMORROW.

Work is progressing toward the construction of the gymnasium of the volunteer firemen. A meeting was held last night at fire headquarters at which various reports of committees were received. The lease for the ground has been signed with the Tonopah Mining company, whereby the volunteers get the ground for fifty years at a rental of $1 per year, and tomorrow will witness the removal of several shacks at present on the lot and the excavation for the foundation for the building. This work will all be done by the volunteers.

The entertainment committee made its final report and reported that they had over $400 to turn in as a result of the entertainment recently given. The receipts and expenditures are as follows:

Gross receipts for tickets sold	$497.50
Donated	10.00
Total	$507.50
Expenditures	95.20
Balance on hand	$412.30

BIG CASINO HAS ATTRACTIVE CARD

The Big Casino has an attractive card for the night tonight. The management announces that everybody is welcome and no charge for admittance. The pugs who will don the mits for the purse and plaudits of the patrons of the squared arena are two kids—Kid Lawrence of Joliet and the Salt Lake Kid. No kidding, but this should be a hot scrap. The Salt Lake Kid has had his optic on Kid Lawrence for some time past, but has failed to connect. Now that he has the wise ones say that there will be something doing.

RHYOLITE HAS A COSTLY FIRE

For a time on Wednesday night fire threatened to wipe out the entire town of Rhyolite. By an explosion of gasoline in a house in the red light district a fire was started that but for the valiant efforts of the firemen would have resulted in the destruction of the entire city. The loss is estimated at $25,000.

WILL EXPLAIN TO BRISSELL.

Judge Brissell will be called upon this morning to listen to participants in an altercation that occurred upon Main street Wednesday evening. The combatants were Alfred Kells and Charles Gallup. The dispute was over some trivial matter.
